

I do not want the wisconsin no-call list law weakened. It has been so less stressful in the evenings at home without getting 3-5 calls a night from telemarketers. It is discourteous to call a home, expect someone to stop in the middle of whatever they are doing to answer the phone, just to ask if they want to renew their subscription, get add'l insurance or a new phone company. I have had calls when I was dealing with family health crisis or a death and was waiting for other family members to contact me, or I was so sick, waiting to hear from the doctor's office and it ended up being a telemarket. I don't expect strangers to walk up to my door, I don't want them calling me all evening either.
